ORGANISMuseum features Hannes Schick “War Against Ourselves”

Milano, June 5 2007

Since 5th June 2007 ORGANISMuseum, the first Online Realtime 3D Virtual Art Gallery running inside Internet Browsers, either PC or MAC, is proud to host Hannes Schick's photographs. All past exhibitions will remain accessible through the archive present on the website.

“War Against Ourselves”

The theme of the exhibition is the war of mankind against themselves and against the environment that sustains them: a collective suicide perpetrated in the form of exploitation, oppression, terrorism, war and individual violence. Particularly this exhibition wants to highlight the war on children and nature, because a civilisation that loses the will to protect its future is destined to perish.

Hannes has crossed the planet following the crisis that have characterized our recent history and he has tried to draw a line able to bring under the light the indissoluble tie that links these crisis to the expansionism of the global market. What comes out is a sometimes upsetting portrait where the weak always pay the greatest price and where, if inclined to some questions, we could really change a lot of things.
